

<h2 style="text-align: center;">Questions</h2> 	<h2 style="text-align: center;">Answers</h2>
Your friend has forgotten their password and asks to borrow yours. Should you let them?	No. This is private information. Keep it secret.
Whilst searching online you see a picture that makes you feel a bit scared. What would you do?	Minimise the page and tell a parent/grown-up you trust.
Someone you have only 'met' online says they live nearby and want to meet up. What should you do?	Don't reply. Tell a parent or grown-up you trust and ask what you should do.
Whilst listening to a song online some of the words upset you. What should you do?	Tell a parent or grown-up you trust.
Another player is rude to you whilst playing your favourite online game. What would you do?	Don't reply. Tell a parent/grown-up you trust.
Your teacher says that some people online may pretend to be somebody else. Is this true?	Yes. Remember, meeting people online is not like meeting people in real life. Ask a parent or grown-up you trust if you are unsure.
Whilst watching a video online you see something that upsets you. What should you do?	Stop and minimise the video and tell a parent or grown-up you trust.
Someone online asks you to email a photo of yourself to them. Should you do it?	No. This is private information. Tell a parent or grown-up you trust.

To enter a competition to win a bike, you must fill in an online form with your name, address and phone number. Should you do it?	Ask a parent or grown-up you trust first. This is private information which is secret.
Whilst online at your friend's house, she says you don't have to follow the internet rules you have in your home. What should you do?	You need to follow the rules your parents gave you. Explain this to your friend.
Your teacher asks you to search online for a website about your new topic. Is this ok?	Yes. A teacher is a grown-up you can trust.
Your mum asks if you would like to watch a programme with her online. Should I watch it?	Yes. Watching a programme with a parent is a good idea.
A grown-up tells you that you're too young to use Facebook. Are they right?	Yes. Facebook is for people aged 13 and over.
An older boy says don't open emails if you don't recognise who they are from. Is he right?	Yes. Emails from unknown people and places can contain viruses that can damage your computer.
Your teacher says that if you upload photos and personal information to the internet they can stay there forever. Is that true?	Yes. Once information is on the web you have no way of getting it back. It can stay there forever.
Your Auntie says you can get into trouble if you are rude online or put nasty things on the internet. Is this true?	Yes. You should behave just as you would in the playground. Be polite and kind and try not to break the rules.